Computers For Education

A Message from Our Managing Director

At VeryPC, we've proudly supported schools and academies across the UK for over 20 years. Everything we do is built around our customers and their needs. That customer-first mindset is what has shaped who we are, and it's the reason we've been able to grow, adapt, and succeed over the last two decades.

We know that when technology works as it should, it enables better teaching and learning. That's why our products are designed for reliability, security, and long-term performance. From robust hardware to simple, flexible services, our solutions are geared around saving staff time, keeping costs down, and making IT easy to deploy, support, and manage.

Our own range of computers is built right here in our Sheffield factory, and we work closely with leading tech brands to give you plenty of choice. You'll get the quality and performance you need with complete peace of mind.

You can also take advantage of our full suite of hardware services including pre-configuration, installation, and recycling and packaging take-back. And if you need long-term support, our in-house managed IT team is ready to help, whether remotely or on site.

Doing a great job for our customers is what drives us. It's at the heart of our culture and it fuels how we innovate. When we create something new or improve a service, it's always with the end goal in mind: better outcomes for educators, learners, and support teams.

If you're already working with us, thank you. And if you're considering partnering with VeryPC, we'd love the opportunity to show you what we can do.

Computers designed for Education

"We were looking for a computer that was specifically designed for education. We were fed up with buying computer cases that were flimsy and easily damaged. I'd recommend VeryPC without hesitation. We've found the Flex Slim to be the perfect solution for our school and having used it now for 8 years it's by far the most reliable computer we've ever used."

Christian Rowlands, ICT Network Manager

Who We Partner With...

Sustainability

At VeryPC, we aspire to put sustainability at the heart of everything we do. We recognise the profound impact our industry has on the environment and society, and we are committed to making a positive difference.

Product Design

We use recycled plastics in our manufacturing and are moving to zero plastic packaging across our product range. By reducing packaging and choosing smarter materials, we cut waste without compromising protection. Inside the devices, energy efficient CPUs and PSUs are carefully selected to deliver strong performance while helping schools lower both their running costs and environmental impact.

Recycling Old Hardware

We provide a full collection and disposal service for old equipment, ensuring everything is handled in line with WEEE regulations and GDPR compliance. This saves schools valuable time and guarantees that devices are either securely reused or responsibly recycled, avoiding landfill and reducing environmental impact.

Refurbished IT for Charities

As part of our commitment to a circular economy in education, we partner with the Turing Trust to give old IT equipment a second life. Devices are refurbished and put to use creating complete ICT suites in schools across developing countries. This not only extends the lifespan of technology but also helps provide students worldwide with access to digital learning opportunities.

Carbon Reduction

VeryPC is committed to reducing greenhouse gas emissions in support of global climate goals. We aim to reach Net Zero by 2050, with a 50% emissions reduction by 2030. We will set clear, achievable targets and report our total emissions annually to track our progress.

Why Choose Leasing?

Leasing can also give you the option to refresh your IT estate at the end of the term, ensuring you always have up-to-date, reliable technology without sudden spikes in spend. For many schools and colleges, this approach means smoother long-term planning and more predictable costs, all while keeping your classrooms equipped with the latest kit.
